But, soon he will descend with living bread For the proud, thoughtless beggars of our race; And, with unheeded glories round his head, Resume, once more, his weary leaden pace. EYES. Oh Beauty!--thou magical skeleton case, In thy brow two of God s living jewels are set As soul-stars, to guide the lost ones of our race, Who are strangers to heaven and happiness yet. But thy eloquent beacon too seldom appears Flashing faithfully down on the wanderer s feet; Or endeavoring to beam through a deluge of tears, In the gloom where Affliction and Misery meet. Yet, alas! on each folly that secretly twines A bright, beautiful serpent around us so fast, From the depths of its treasure, the mellow light shines, Till the gaze of the monster is on us at last. And we wander through life, like a phantom...

Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
