An inspection of Mr. Schlatters map will show that ft he Kishicoquillas route forms an abrupt bend at the mouth of Mill creek. To cut this ofT, and to effect a further saving of distance of 11 23 miles, is the object of the Stone Mountain route. This line forms a succession of 45 feet grades, and is, for about one half of its istance, located over exceedingly difficult ground. A rmel of 1 06 miles long through Stone Mountain, and veral extensive and high viaducts become necessary, gainst these works the principal objections have been aised but why....
