The shadows of the mountains, and of monuments and men, And westward is the trending from the continents and seas; From all the earth, within the scope of mortal sight and ken. From where the murky waters of the dark Missouri flow, And blot the blue of Mississippi s clear and placid tide, Since the dawn of Western Empire, a hundred years ago, Have ridden bands of hardy men, with Progress for their guide. Amid the forests and along, where to the tawny stream, Come branches, lazing eastward, across the desert plain, They rode, and on, twixt castled buttes, to where the mountains gleam, Neath helmets of eternal snow, mid Nature s rugged reign. Among the Sioux and Shoshone, and Cheyenne tribes that roamed, The region where the riders bold, undaunted took their way; Along the placid rivers,...
